RECOMMENDED COURSES AT UNT

TECM 3200: INFORMATION DESIGN FOR ELECTRONIC MEDIA
An understanding of the fundamentals of web design, and how they change over time, is necessary to successfully manage and distribute content. Information Design for Electronic Media provides hands-on experience with designing, developing, and writing for desktop and mobile interfaces.

TECM 3200: INFORMATION DESIGN FOR ELECTRONIC MEDIA
User experience (UX) is a driving force behind how documents, websites, and other web-based applications are created. Usability & User Experience covers the methods and best practices of the field, and introduces students to concepts such as information architecture, usability heuristics, and how usability and user experience tests are conducted.
